... Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am three months pregnant. I think I know which one of my boy friends is the father, but both of them are denying it. How can I prove anything? Please tell me what to do.

I'm enclosing 25 cents for your pamphlet on "Necking and Petting and How Far to Go."

Dear Gertrude: On the outside chance that this is no gag, I will play it straight.

Contact Legal Aid and they will advise you as to paternity procedure. I am sending you the pamphlet you requested although it seems a little like buying coal for a dead horse.

Dear Ann: We have only one problem in our family and it is 10 years old . . . but it's big enough to keep everyone in a constant state of turmoil.

Our son is bright and good-looking. He's continually quarreling with his 8-year-old sister and 6-year-old brother. He fights everything we want him to do. We argue all the time. Right now we're trying to get him to settle down and work on a scout award. As with all the awards he has won, we must push him and nag him.

Sometimes I think it's not worth the effort, and perhaps we should leave him alone. But what kind of a man will he be if we let him take the course of least resistance?

We can't afford a psychiatrist and I wouldn't want him to think he's not normal by taking him to one. I admit when I lose my temper I shout at him and let him know he's a problem child. Our entire family is upset by this stubborn boy. Please offer some advice.—G.H.M.

Your boy isn't a "problem child." He's a child with a problem. You've made him feel like a trouble-maker and now he intends to live up to the reputation.

What you consider "badness" is an act of rebellion against you. He wants to fail because he knows you are angry or he fails to succeed. This is how he gets even.

Take your son to a specialist in child behavior. He'll suggest that you relax and quit pushing the boy.

Spend your energies building up the child instead of knocking him down. You'll find his entire attitude will change when he learns it's more fun to be a good boy than a bad one.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send letter to her in care of the Torrance Herald and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

From Minnesota
Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bouchard and family of Crookston, Minn., arrived Thursday morning and spent two weeks with Mrs. Boucher's sister, Mrs. Dennis Dierman and family. They came especially to be present at the wedding of Mrs. Barbara Dennis which took place yesterday.

Try "Teri-Yaki Kebob" For That Summertime Barbecue

Mrs. Douglas Horlander, 20605 Madrona, is today's guest cook in the Favorite Recipe column. She is a native of Athens, Ohio, but came with her husband to Torrance nine years ago.

Mrs. Horlander was graduated from the Ohio University with a BS in chemistry. After a year of research in Madrona and the all-electric kitchen she and cabinets are any homemaker's dream.

In spite of the beauty and convenience of the compact kitchen, the Horlanders, their children and Mrs. Horlander's mother, Mrs. L. Lovett, who is visiting here from Ohio, are very fond of cooking over charcoal.

A favorite with the adults and the children is the Teri-Yaki Kebobs which Mrs. Horlander is contributing as a favorite recipe today.

TERI-YAKI KEBOBS

4½ lbs. steak cut into ½ inch cubes
1 can pineapple chunks (NO. 2½ can)
1 bottle stuffed olives (6 oz.)

MARINADE
½ cup pineapple juice
3 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice

The meat for the Kebobs may be cut from T-bones, sirloin, or New York steak, or it is just as delicious if made from round steak that has been treated with tenderizer.

After marinating the meat in the marinade for approximately three hours, Grill over charcoal, continually basting with soy sauce marinade, until browned and well coated with marinade. This serves four adults and four children.

We love to roast corn on the same charcoal grill with the silk removed, wrapped in husks, and then wrapped in aluminum foil. With hot French bread, tossed salad, and a light dessert, this makes an easy "fix-ahead" patio dinner.

Rebekah News Wins Awards At Hawthorne Garden Show

Regular business meeting of the Torrance Rebekah Lodge will be held on Wednesday evening, June 25, in the Torrance Masonic Temple, 2328 Cabrillo Ave. The Noble Grand, Mrs. Rita Ferrin, will call the meeting to order promptly at 8 p.m.

At the last meeting the Memorial service was held for the two charter members who have passed away during the year.

This service was under the leadership of Mrs. Olive Veach and she had asked the sisters to wear white floor-length gowns for the occasion. This was a joint memory with the members of the Old Fellow Lodge.

A recess was called and the members left the room and re-entered forming a cross in the middle of the room. Mrs. Ruth Deems presided at the piano and sang "Softly and Tenderly." Amy Savage then gave a short eulogy on the two departed sisters, Priscilla Young and Pearl Montanya. During this service Mrs. Lila Lee, as the angel, stood with stretched arms over the white cross covered with lilies. The members then filed past the cross with the sisters placing small petals on it while the others sang "The Lord is Good."

The exhibit won the first prize, the special award and the Garden club trophy. Mrs. Stone was assisted by George Stewart and Iris Stone. The California Iris Society exhibit won the special award. This was a large invasive group from South America known as the Walking Iris. This display was under the direction of Iris Stone with Elizabeth Boumier displaying an arrangement of Royal Godet Verbena. Another member showed a beautiful arrangement of geraniums.
